Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Langkawi

Langkawi, officially known as Langkawi, the Jewel of Kedah (Malay: Langkawi Permata Kedah) is an archipelago of 99 islands (an extra 5 temporary islands are revealed at low tide) in the Andaman Sea, some 30 km off the mainland coast of northwestern Malaysia. They are a part of the state of Kedah, which is adjacent to the Thai border.

From the Kuah jetty, there are high-speed ferry connections to Satun in southern Thailand, Pulau Payar, Penang, Kuala Kedah and Kuala Perlis in the mainland of Peninsular Malaysia. Star Cruises ships dock at the Awana Porto Malai harbour on the west coast of the island. Malaysia Airlines has daily flights to Langkawi whilst AirAsia flies from Bangkok, Kuala Lumpur and Kota Kinabalu. SilkAir flies to Langkawi from Singapore and there is a Penang-Langkawi flight route operated by Firefly airline. The Langkawi island has a well developed road network. Taxis and car rentals are available at the Langkawi international Airport.

On July 15, 2008, Sultan Abdui Halim of Kedah had consented to the change of name to Langkawi Permata Kedah in conjunction with his Golden Jubilee Celebration. By far the largest of the islands is the eponymous Pulau Langkawi with a population of some 45,000, the only other inhabited island being nearby Pulau Tuba. Langkawi is also an administrative district with the town of Kuah as the capital. It is the largest town. Langkawi is a duty-free island.

On June 1, 2007, Langkawi Island has been given a World Geopark status by UNESCO. Three of its main conservation areas in Langkawi Geopark are Machincang Cambrian Geoforest Park, Kilim Karst Geoforest Park and Dayang Bunting Marble Geoforest park (Island of the Pregnant Maiden Lake). These three parks are the most popular tourism areas within Langkawi Geopark.

Sheltered by the mountainous backbone of Peninsular Malaysia, Langkawi escapes the northeastern monsoon entirely and enjoys sunny skies when the eastern provinces are flooded. Langkawi is affected by the milder western monsoon (May-September), and while diving is possible at Pulau Payar, although the water clarity tends to be poor.

Langkawi remained a sleepy backwater until 1987, when the island was granted tax-free status with the intention of promoting tourism. Subsequently its airport was upgraded and ferry links were increased.

Beginning 1990s, Langkawi competes with nearby Penang for the title of Malaysia's largest tourist draw. Resorts and 5-star hotels line the beaches and in the winter season, direct flights land from as far as Europe and Japan.

Besides its tax-free status, the beach and the eagle square, the other attraction is its cable car that moves to the tops of Gunung Mat Cincang at 705 metres above sea level. Galeria Perdana, a collection of over 2500 gifts to the fourth Prime Minister of Malaysia, Mahathir Mohamad, is an additional tourist attraction.

Langkawi used to be the starting point of the annual international cycling race Tour de Langkawi cycling event. However, after 2000, Langkawi was omitted from the race itinerary. It also hosts the biennial Langkawi International Maritime and Air Show (LIMA). Langkawi has played host to the Malaysian Ironman triathlon since 2000.
